FASHION THERE.

Wedding of Miss Danford and F. T. Lange.

Daughter of Lady Herron Married Last Night at St. Andrew's Cathedral.

The marriage of Miss Alys Danford, daughter of Lady Herron, to Mr. Frederick T. Lange was solemnized in St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday evening in the presence of a large assembly.

Among those present were the British Consul and Miss Hoare, Bishop Willis and wife, E. A. Mott-Smith and wife, A. S. Clegghorn, Attorney General Dole, H. H. Mott-Smith and wife, Captain Ross, and others. The decorations were green and white and the altar was brilliantly lighted up by candles.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. V. H. Kiteat, according to the rites of the Church of England. The surprised choir of boys and men were in attendance and sang two hymns—"How Welcome Was the Call" and "The Voice That Breathed"—and a special psalm, the service being fully choral. Wray Taylor was at the organ, as usual.

The maid of honor was Miss Anna Danford, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids the Misses Vera May and Mary Catton. The groom was attended by his best man, Dr. Hodgkins, and the groomsmen were Mr. Braach and Chas. Stanley. Messrs. D. W. Anderson and Jas. Cockburn officiated as ushers.

The bride who was given away by her brother, looked very pretty in her white bridal costume. After the ceremony a short reception was held at the residence of Judge Stanley, only immediate friends being present.

Mr. Lange is a member of the firm of Hoffschlaeger & Co. Mr. and Mrs. Lange will spend their honeymoon in Honolulu, at their residence, King street.

CEMENT SIDEWALKS.

Will be Laid at Once Around Executive Grounds.

Governor Dole met with the heads of the Territorial government yesterday and considerable routine business was transacted. Superintendent of Public Works McCandless announced that it was his intention to begin at once the work of laying cement sidewalks around the grounds of the Executive building and also around Thomas Square. He also suggested the feasibility of having cement sidewalks laid all over the city at the expense of property owners. Other improvements to be undertaken by the Department of Public Works are the construction of a 30-foot bridge for School street instead of the 20-foot structure contemplated, and the extension of Kukui street.

Mr. Atkinson of the Department of Public Instruction expressed his intention of proceeding as soon as possible with the work on the Royal School. A larger plot of ground will probably be secured than the one under contemplation.

The leases of crown and other lands and the 1000-acre plantation limitation came in for some discussion.

The liquor licenses of Camara & Company and H. Congdon were renewed and the matter of the Orpheum liquor license was deferred to a later meeting.

CELEBRATED PRETORIA'S FALL.

Britishers Make Merry at Oom Paul's Expense.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith celebrated the British occupation of Pretoria by a dinner party on Tuesday evening at their home on Pilihi street.

The decorations were exceedingly tasteful, the walls being draped with the flags of the United Kingdom, as well as those of Hawaii and America, while pictures of the leading British generals occupied positions among their folds.

About twenty guests were present and enjoyed to the full true "Highland hospitality," for which Mr. and Mrs. Smith are noted. During the evening the host and hostess were presented with a handsome secretaire bookcase by a number of the guests present as a token of the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Smith are held by them.

Each guest received an artistically executed and appropriate card, decorated with Scotch tartan favors and heather as a souvenir of the occasion and the event it celebrated.

The Hawaiian Quintette Club played at intervals, and with toast and song a very enjoyable evening was spent.

NATIVE LEADERS TALK AT WAILUA.

Addresses Made in Support of the Independent Party by "Bob" Wilcox

[Special Correspondence.]

WAILUA, June 20.—A hundred or more people of this town attended a meeting here tonight, addressed by the three politicians of the Independent party who are touring the Island in the interest of that organization. About one-half of those in attendance were, however, members of the Republican party who had come to listen to the arguments of the speakers, largely out of curiosity. Among the well known Republicans who were there were Col. E. L. Pierce, J. Nahaulu and many others.

The meeting was opened by S. K. Mahui, who acted as chairman, and he introduced Kalaauokalani. He made his usual speech, describing the merits of the various parties and advising the natives to adhere to the Independent party. He mentioned as candidates for Senators on the ticket to be put up by the Independents the names of himself and his two touring colleagues, J. K. Kaula, Robert Wilcox and E. L. Pierce. He also suggested the name of S. K. Mahui as a candidate for Representative. He asked the people if they would vote for all of these, and they all said that they would.

J. K. Kaula was then introduced, and he made a rather feeble attempt to explain his remarks at the drill shed when he said "Kill the snake!" so often and so vigorously.

Will Mossman followed with a review of the constitutional difficulties leading up to the Provisional Government. It was a long and rather dry discourse, and many of the audience went to sleep during it.

Wilcox came next, and he made the same talk he has been giving since the three started out on their tour, telling of his visit to Washington and his treatment there, and what effect it had upon the affairs of the Islands.

The meeting was wound up by a talk by S. K. Mahui. He spoke mostly of the ex-King, urging the people to be kind to her and never to speak ill of her. Before he was half through the people began to get weary, and when he had finished there were so few left that the speakers did not think it necessary to move for an adjournment, but simply put the lights out and left.

The tourists were very nicely treated by C. P. Lauka, host of the Haiewa Hotel. Tomorrow they will go to Kahuku and thence to Laie, where they will speak tomorrow evening at the Mormon settlement.

SUGAR COMPANY LOSES.

Water Power Case Decided by Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in the case of Fred J. Cross vs. Hawaiian Sugar Company that has aroused a good deal of interest throughout the Islands. It involves water rights in Koula valley on Kauai.

A year ago Cross leased from Gay and Robinson the water power of the valley, but in the lease the right was reserved to the Hawaiian Sugar Company of using the water for irrigation purposes.

The Sugar Company contended that they had the right to make use of the water for developing power, but this Cross denied, and his contention is now sustained by the decision of the court. Magoon & Stillman, Kinney, Ballou & McClanahan and Robertson & Wilder were attorneys for the plaintiff, and F. M. Hatch, W. O. Smith and D. R. Mead for defendant. The opinion was written by Judge Perry, who sat with Justices Frear and Whiting in the case.

Police Notes.

Ah Chong, the main law-breaker of the twenty-two dope fiends arrested the other night by Deputy High Sheriff Chillingworth and Special Officer Hanrahan on Liha street, was found guilty of conducting an opium den, possessing opium, "hitting the pipe" and passing it around, in Judge Wilcox's court yesterday afternoon, and was sentenced to spend two months on the "reef" and pay $500 fine. The other twenty-one Celestials were let loose.

A sailor slightly under the "influence" ran amuck in Iwilei on Tuesday night and tried to take the district by storm. Several policemen were instrumental in cooling Jack's ambition in a cell. The Japanese arrested by Hanrahan for selling beer without a license in Iwilei recently was fined $150 with "trimmings" for his enterprise. A crazy woman from Kakaako sang songs all night last night in a cell at the police station and kept all the force awake.

Bark Hera Arrives.

The 4-masted German bark Hera, Captain Kullen, came into port yesterday morning, 130 days from Hamburg. The Hera was one of two vessels whose agents here hoped would arrive before American laws went into effect on June 14. Bark Solide which sailed from Hamburg a month before the Hera, was the other and has not yet put in an appearance. The Hera experienced twenty days of rough weather off the Horn. Half of her cargo of cement goes to Seattle. A man was lost overboard on the third day out from Hamburg, being washed from the vessel by a heavy sea which swept the decks. The Solide is 166 days out and about a month overdue.

Mariposa's Last Trip.

The present run of the steamship Mariposa to the Colonies and return is her last according to the schedule of the Oceanic Steamship Company.

When she returns to San Francisco, the brand new 6,000-ton steamship Sierra will be ready to take her place and the Mariposa and the Australia will go on the run between San Francisco and Tahiti.

Passengers on the Mariposa from the Coast came ashore yesterday without having their baggage examined for opium or other dutiable goods. The Mariposa is not a foreign steamer any longer, merely a coaster.

Typhoid fever is unusually prevalent in Honolulu at the present time. Local physicians report a large number of cases scattered all over the city.

New attractions at the Orpheum tonight.
